A black silhouette of the state of Louisiana is centered on a light gray background. The word "Louisiana" is written across the middle of the silhouette in a bold, black, sans-serif font. The letters are filled with white, and the word is positioned such that it appears to be part of the state's outline. The 'L' is on the left, and the 'a' is on the right, with the rest of the letters in between. The silhouette shows the state's characteristic shape, including the Gulf of Mexico coastline and the Mississippi River delta.
